Louisiana College Moves To KC To Rebuild

POSTED: 12:02 pm CDT September 5, 2005
 UPDATED: 4:55 pm CDT September 5, 2005

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -- Nearly 50 families from hurricane-ravaged Slidell, La., will move to the metro area this week.

They are employees of the online college Grantham University. Instead of rebuilding in Louisiana, the group has decided to move to Kansas City and set up temporary offices at 2300 Main Street. Eventually, they hope to move to Zona Rosa.

Instead of rebuilding in Louisiana, Grantham University has decided to move to Kansas City.

For now, the company is putting up its employees at a local hotel.

"Good news, bad news. University destroyed, but by next week it'll be up and running. Employees have nothing but the shirts on their backs," said Joe McGrath, with Grantham University.

University officials said it will eventually hire about 100 new
