Grantham University Signs Articulation Agreement with Bellevue University, Allowing Students to Transfer Credits

Kansas City, Mo. – May 24, 2006 – Grantham University, specializing in educating working adults, has signed an articulation agreement with Bellevue University of Bellevue, Nebraska. The articulation agreement allows the transfer of undergraduate academic credits between the two schools in the area of computer science. There are currently 31 courses included in the articulation agreement. For more information on these courses, please call 800-955-2527.

“The agreement with Bellevue University gives students more choices and flexibility in designing their education,” said Gary Sutter, PhD, Provost at Grantham University. “Both schools see each other as active educational partners, committed to providing greater educational opportunities and services for students transferring between schools.”

Established in 1951, Grantham University offers online undergraduate and graduate degree programs in Criminal Justice, Business Administration, General and Interdisciplinary Studies, Computer Science, and other technology related degrees. Grantham’s degree programs are flexible and self-paced, allowing students to complete their course work at times and places that fit their busy schedules.

“Bellevue University is proud to enter into this new partnership with Grantham University,” said Mary Hawkins, PhD, Provost at Bellevue University. “As a leader in adult and online education, Bellevue University shares with Grantham University the desire to meet the unique needs of today’s working professionals. This agreement allows both institutions to continue to offer their students a rich and relevant learning experience.”
